Hello,

The Garmin 696/695 has just been released. How long before the Zaon XRX works with it?

Technically, the XRX already works with it. Both the XRX and 696 (or 695) use TIS as does the 396/495/496. The only thing needed is a cable providing the data link between the two.

Zaon's combination power/data cable is expected by the end of November as is Garmin's bare wire data cable for those who might need it instead.
